INDUSTRIAL LONGING (detail)
2021 ink on paper

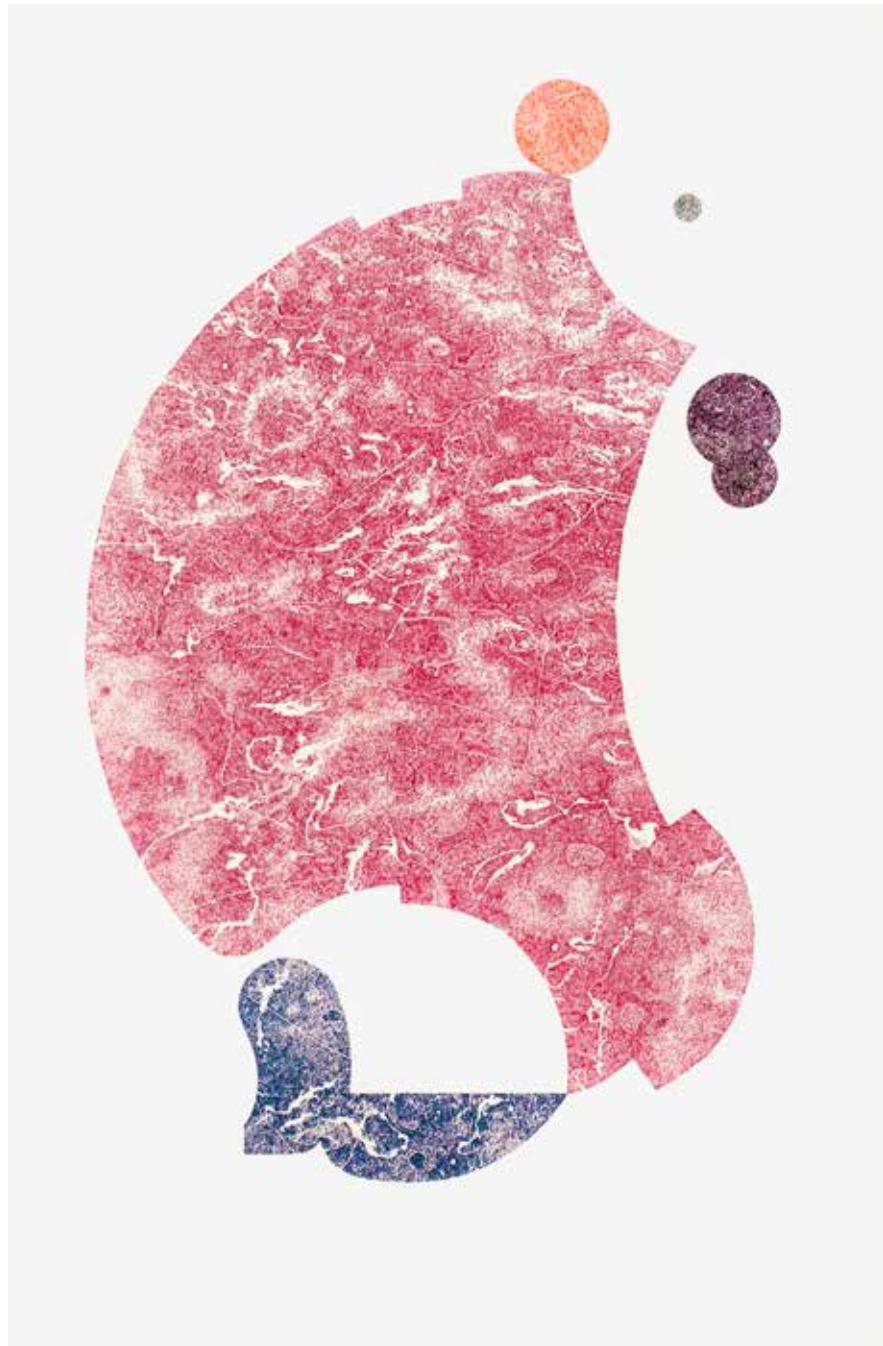

My drawings emerged from my steel and stone sculpture.

Like the sculptures, the drawings assemble forms as cohesive structures. The drawings are macrocosms, the broad shapes, populated by microcosms, the small often circular marks, all of which give function to the white field. The paper is a utopian, non-pictorial space, existing to be divided by and to support and contain the drawn forms that have no other real or imagined space. They are made to invite overall visual experience and specific close-in seeing.
